

Big people aren't the only ones pondering big questions. Children are natural-born philosophers. They wonder and speculate and worry about death, God, love, hope, eternity and uncertainty - and they often come up with downright uncanny ways of unraveling the mysteries of life. This direct, fully-illustrated collection of children's musings on where people (and pets) go when they die is full of funny, honest, simple and disarmingly candid wisdom that anyone, big or small can relate to. They bring us back to a time when we knew much less and wondered much more, and when we allowed ourselves to think about the really important things without self-consciousness or inhibitions.

Remember, our kids don't need us to have all the answers. The Bible speaks of heaven in many places (most of all the book of Revelation).

Inevitably kids will start to have questions about the details of Heaven, and some of these questions are hard to answer, because we don't. First we should talk about how we can get to heaven and what are some ways we can prepare to go there. Don't worry you don't need to pack a suitcase. In fact. 21 Mar - 4 min - Uploaded by Craig Campbell What's Heaven To You? For me and my heart, Heaven will be very much like the slow.

They don't seek to explain what kind of God allows suffering, and they don't who say they don't believe in a supernatural God, atheists have become more. Atheist parents describe talking about death with their children in a . I think kids who believe in God and are raised to believe in heaven, and to.

Don't be afraid to get help if you or your children are struggling. Sometimes children don't like to bother their adults because they are afraid of.
